

Seminar by the Supreme Court of Justice and the Maritime Courts of Appeals of Panama

21 March 2019
Panama City, Panama

From left to right: Dr Víctor Chacón, Senior Research Fellow of CML at NUS Law, Mrs. Minella Morcillo, Judge of the Second Maritime Court of Panama, Prof. Girvin, Director of CML at NUS Law, Dr. Luis Ramón Fábrega, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Panama, Dr. Gisela Agurto Ayala and Mrs. María Delgado, both Justices of the Maritime Court of Appeals, Mrs. María Lourdes Galán, Vice President of the Panama Maritime Law Association and Mrs. Calixto Malcom, President of the Maritime Court of Appeals of Panama.

On 21 March 2019, Professor Stephen Girvin, Director of CML and Dr Victor Chacón, Senior Research Fellow of CML were invited to speak at a seminar organised by Supreme Court of Justice and the Maritime Court of Appeals of Panama. The seminar was held in commemoration of the 37th Anniversary of the enactment of Law 8 March 1982 that creates the Maritime Courts of Panama. It was attended by judges, court officials, professors and practitioners.

Aside from Singapore, the event also included speakers from Panama and the Netherlands. Professor Girvin spoke on 'Collision law: Overview and developments', and Dr Chacón on 'Comparative study of the ship arrest system in Panama'.